A resolution proposing to the people of the State of California an amendment to section four of article six of the constitution of the State of California relating to the supreme court and district courts of appeal, and providing for two divisions of the district courts of appeal of the first and second appellate districts.

The legislature of the State of California, at its regular session commencing on the eighth day of January, 1917, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of said legislature voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes an amendment to the constitution of the State of California amending section four of article six thereof so as to read as follows:

JURISDICTION OF SUPREME COURT AND DISTRICT COURT OF APPEAL.

Sec. 4. The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction on appeal from the superior courts in all cases in equity, except such as arise in justices' courts; also, in all cases at law which involve the title or possession of real estate, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, or municipal fine, or in which the demand, exclusive of interest, or the value of the property in controversy, amounts to two thousand dollars; also, in all such probate matters as may be provided by law; also, on occasions of law alone, in all criminal cases where judgment of death has been rendered; the said court shall also have appellate jurisdiction in all cases, matters and proceedings pending before a district court of appeal, which shall be ordered by the supreme court to be transferred to itself for hearing and decision, as hereinafter provided. The said court shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, and habeas corpus, and all other writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. Each of the justices shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the state, upon petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or the supreme court, or before any district court of appeal, or before any judge thereof, or before any superior court in the state, or before any judge thereof.

The state is hereby divided into three appellate districts, in each of which there shall be a district court of appeal.

The courts of appeal for the first and second appellate districts shall each consist of two divisions of three justices each.

The court of the third appellate district shall consist of three justices.

The district courts of appeal as existing immediately prior to the general election of the year one thousand nine hundred eighteen shall not be affected as to the officers or terms of office of the justices thereof by the amendment of this section at that election; and the justices of the district courts of appeal of districts of the first and second districts at the time of said general election shall constitute division one of each of said districts respectively. Each of such divisions shall constitute and shall exercise all of the powers of a district court of appeal.

The first district shall embrace the following counties: San Francisco, Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Fresno, Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Benito.

The second district shall embrace the following counties: Tulare, Kings, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Inyo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial.

The third district shall embrace the following counties: Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Humboldt, Trinity, Shasta, Lassen, Tehama, Plumas, Mendocino, Lake, Colusa, Glenn, Butte, Sierra, Sutter, Yuba, Nevada, Sonoma, Napa, Yolo, Placer, Solano, Sacramento, El Dorado, San Joaquin, Amador, Calaveras, Stanislaus, Mariposa, Madera, Merced, Tuolumne, Alpine and Mono.

The supreme court, by orders entered in its minutes, may from time to time remove one or more counties from one appellate district to another, but no county not contiguous to another county of a district shall be added to such district.

Said district courts of appeal shall hold their regular sessions respectively at San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento, and they shall always be open for the transaction of business.

The district courts of appeal shall have appellate jurisdiction on appeal from the superior courts in all cases at law in which the demand, exclusive of interest, or the value of the property in controversy, amounts to three hundred dollars, and does not amount to two thousand dollars; also, in all cases of forcible and unlawful entry, and detainer (except such as arise in justices' courts), in proceedings in insolvency, and in actions to prevent or abate a nuisance; in proceedings of mandamus, certiorari and prohibition, usurpation of office, contesting elections and eminent domain, and in such other special proceedings as may be provided by law (excepting cases in which appellate jurisdiction is given to the supreme court); also on questions of law alone, in all criminal cases prosecuted by indictment or information in a court of record, excepting criminal cases where judgment of death has been rendered. The said courts shall also have appellate jurisdiction in all cases, matters, and proceedings pending before the supreme court which shall be ordered by the supreme court to be transferred to a district court of appeal for hearing and decision. The said courts shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition and habeas corpus, and all other writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of their appellate jurisdiction. Each of the justices thereof shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of his appellate district upon petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or the district court of appeal of his district, or before any superior court within his district, or before any judge thereof.

The supreme court shall have power to order any cause pending before the supreme court to be heard and determined by a district court of appeal, and to order any cause pending before a district court of appeal to be heard and determined by the supreme court. The order last mentioned may be made before judgment has been pronounced by a district court of appeal, or within thirty days after such judgment shall have become final therein. The judgments of the district courts of appeal shall become final therein upon the expiration of thirty days after the same shall have been pronounced.

The supreme court shall have power to order causes pending before a district court of appeal for one district to be transferred to the district court of appeal of another district, or from one division thereof to another, for hearing and decision.

The justices of the district courts of appeal shall be elected by the qualified electors within their respective districts at the general state elections; and the term of office of said justices shall be twelve years from and after the first day of January next succeeding their election.

Upon the adoption by the people of this section, at the next general election of the year one thousand nine hundred eighteen, the governor shall appoint six persons to serve as justices of the district courts of appeal—three as justices of division two of the first appellate district, and three as justices of division two of the second appellate district; three and after their commission and upon the next general election and qualification of their successors. The justices of divisions two of the first and second appellate districts created by these provisions shall reclassify themselves by lot that one of them shall go out of office at the end of four years, one of them at the end of eight years, and one of them at the end of twelve years, and entry of such classification shall be made in the minutes of said division, signed by the three justices thereof, and a duplicate thereof filed in the office of the secretary of state.

If any vacancy occur in the office of a justice of the district courts of appeal, the governor shall appoint a person to hold office until the election and qualification of a justice to fill the vacancy. Such election shall take place at the next succeeding general state election, as aforesaid; the justice then elected shall hold office for the unexpired term, provided that whenever the term of office of the justice whose term is fixed by appointment is fixed by law to expire on the first Monday of January after the next succeeding general election, then the justice is deemed to fill the vacancy shall hold office for the remainder of such unexpired term.

One of the justices of each of the district courts of appeal, and of each division of said courts, shall be the presiding justice thereof, and so each shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be.

The presence of two justices shall be necessary for the prosecution of any business by such court except such as may be done at chambers, and the concurrence of two justices shall be necessary to pronounce a judgment.

Whenever any justice of the supreme court is for any reason disqualified or unable to act in a cause pending before it, the remaining justices may select one of the justices of the district court of appeal or of the superior court to act pro tempore in the place of the justice so disqualified or unable to act.

Whenever any justice of a district court of appeal, or any justice thereof, is for any reason disqualified or unable to act in any cause pending before it, the other justices of said court or division may appoint a justice of the district court of appeal of another district or division, or a judge of a superior court, who has not acted in the cause in a court below, to act pro tempore in the place of the justice so disqualified or unable to act.

No appeal taken to the supreme court or to a district court of appeal shall be dismissed for the reason only that the same was not taken to the district court, but the cause shall be transferred to the proper court upon such notice as to costs as otherwise as may be just, and shall be proceeded with thence as if regularly brought thereto.

All statutes now in force allowing, providing for, or regulating appeals to the supreme court shall apply to appeals to the district courts of appeal so far as such statutes are not inconsistent with this article and until the legislature shall otherwise provide.

The supreme court shall make and adopt rules not inconsistent with law for the government of the supreme court and of the district courts of appeal and of the officers thereof, and for regulating the practice in said courts, and for the distribution of causes between the divisions of said court.

The Legislature of the State of California at its regular session commencing on the eighth day of January, 1917, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes an amendment to the Constitution of the State of California, to be known as section 26 of Article VI thereof, to read as follows:

Sec. 26. The supreme court shall have power to prescribe from time to time the forms of writs and other process; the mode and manner of framing and filing pleadings and proceedings, the time, mode and manner of taking and prosecuting appeals to the supreme court, the district courts of appeal and the superior court; the mode and manner of giving notice and serving process and writs of all kinds; the mode and manner of production of evidence, and generally to prescribe and regulate by rule the mode and manner of pleading and practice to be used in all civil actions and proceedings of whatever nature in the courts of this state. The district courts of appeal, the superior court and inferior courts may adopt rules for their own government not inconsistent with the rules prescribed by the supreme court or with law.

All rules adopted by the supreme court in accordance with the provisions hereof shall go into effect ninety days after their adoption. A certified copy of such rules shall within ten days after such adoption be filed with the secretary of state and with the county clerk of each county of the state. STATEMENT.

On request of Senator Purkitt, the following statement was ordered printed in the Journal:

MR. PRESIDENT: In voting against Senate Bills 1013, 1036, 1037, 1038, 1039, 1040, 1041, 1042, 1043, 1044, 1045, 1046, 1047, 1048, 1049, 1050, 1051, 1052, 1053, 1054, 1055, 1056, 1057, 1058, 1059, 1060, 1061, 1062, 1063, 1064, 1065, 1066, 1067, 1068, 1069, 1070, 1071, 1072, 1073, 1074, and 1075, I desire to explain my vote as voting "No" for the reason that the author of the bills has stated in explaining these bills that they are to reimburse certain injured workmen who cannot recover from the Commonwealth Bonding Company on account of the failure of that company.

In other words, it brings these claims clearly within the prohibition of the State Constitution, Article IV, section 31, and while I would be only too glad to allow the reimbursement of these poor, unfortunate and maimed workers for their injuries, if I could legally do so, but I don't feel that I can conscientiously set aside the constitution of this state and vote for claims that are clearly unconstitutional, in view of my oath as a State Senator to uphold the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California.

CLAUDE F. PURKITT, Senator of the Fourth District.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY J. W. KAVANAGH AT THE DESK.

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any person, copartnership, or corporation to engage in the business of a real estate broker or a real estate salesman within this state without first obtaining a license therefor.

SEC. 2. A real estate broker within the meaning of this act is a person, copartnership or corporation who for a compensation sells or offers for sale, buys or offers to buy or negotiates the purchase or sale or exchange of real estate, or who, for compensation negotiates loans on real estate, leases or offers to lease, rents or places for rent or collects rent from real estate or improvements thereon for others as a business or occupation.

A real estate salesman within the meaning of this act is one who is employed by a licensed broker to sell or offer for sale, or to buy or offer to buy, or to negotiate the purchase or sale or exchange of real estate, or to negotiate a loan on real estate, or to lease or offer to lease, rent or place for rent any real estate as a whole or partial vocation.

The provisions of this act shall not apply to any person, copartnership or corporation who shall perform any of the acts aforesaid with reference to the buying, selling or exchanging of property owned by such person, copartnership or corporation, or renting, collecting rents, or negotiating a loan on such property; nor shall the provisions of this act apply to salaried employees other than salesmen or solicitors of a licensed real estate broker; and provided, further, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to persons holding a duly executed power of attorney from the owner for the sale of real estate, nor shall this act be construed to interfere in any way with services rendered in any real estate transaction by an attorney at law, nor shall it be held to include a receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, or any person selling real estate under order of any court, nor to a trustee selling under a deed of trust, nor apply to any corporations, associations, copartnerships, companies, firms and individuals now or hereafter subject to the jurisdiction or authority of the railroad commission, nor to corporations now or hereafter organized under the laws of this state for the purpose of conducting the business of banking within this state, nor to corporations, associations, copartnerships, companies, firms and individuals after they have secured from the insurance commissioner or the bureau of building and loan supervision a certificate of authority or license to do business within this state, nor to corporations, associations, copartnerships or companies, subject to federal regulation or not organized for profit, nor to mutual water companies and irrigation districts.

SEC. 3. There is hereby created a state real estate commissioner's department. The chief officer of such department shall be the commissioner. He shall be appointed by the governor and hold office at the pleasure of the governor. He shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars, to be paid monthly out of the state treasury upon a warrant of the controller. He shall within fifteen days from the time of notice of his appointment take and subscribe to the constitutional oath of office and file the same in the office of the secretary of state and execute to the people of the state a bond in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars with corporate security or two or more sureties, to be approved by the governor of the state, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

The real estate commissioner shall employ such clerks and deputies as he may need to discharge in proper manner the duties imposed upon him by law. Neither the real estate commissioner nor any of his clerks or deputies shall be interested in any real estate company, or real estate broker, as director, stockholder, officer, member, agent or employee. Such clerks and deputies shall perform such duties as the real estate commissioner shall assign to them. He shall fix the compensation of such clerks and deputies which compensation shall be paid monthly on the certificate of the real estate commissioner, and on the warrant of the controller out of the state treasury; provided, however, that the total expenditures provided for in this act shall not exceed fifty thousand dollars per annum. Each deputy shall after his appointment take and subscribe to the constitutional oath of office and file the same in the office of the secretary of state.

A fund is hereby created to be known as the "real estate commissioner's fund," and out of said fund shall be paid all the expenses incurred in and about the conduct of the business of the real estate commissioner, including the salary of the commissioner and his clerks and deputies, traveling expenses, furnishing rooms and rent. All moneys collected or received by the real estate commissioner under and by virtue of the provisions of this act shall be delivered by him to the treasurer of the state, who shall deposit the same to the credit of said real estate commissioner's fund.

And all such funds so deposited or such part thereof as may be necessary for the purposes of this act are hereby appropriated to the use of the real estate commissioner's fund for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act. It shall be the duty of the real estate commissioner semiannually to certify under oath to the state treasurer and secretary of state the total amount of receipts and expenditures of the real estate commissioner's department for the six months preceding. All fees and payments of every description required by this act to be paid to the real estate commissioner shall be paid by him to the state treasurer on the first day of each week following their receipt.

The real estate commissioner shall adopt a seal with the words "Real estate commissioner, State of California," and such other device as the commissioner may desire engraved thereon, by which he shall authenticate the proceedings of his office. Copies of all records and papers in the office of the real estate commissioner's department shall be received in evidence in all cases equally and with like effect as the originals.

SEC. 4. Said commissioner shall have the advice and assistance of one assistant attorney general whenever he shall require the same in the prosecution of matters pertaining to this act, and the commissioner shall have full power to regulate and control the issuance and revocation, both temporary and permanent, of licenses, and to perform all other acts and duties under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5. No real estate license shall give authority to do any act in connection with the real estate business to any person, copartnership or corporation other than those to whom said license is issued, and to the regular employees of said person, copartnership or corporation; provided, however, that when a license is issued to a corporation the officers thereof other than the president shall be required to obtain a license if engaged in the real estate business as a whole or partial partner; and provided, further, that when a license is granted to a copartnership the members of said firm or association shall each be required to obtain a separate license, except as provided in section eight hereof.

SEC. 6. Applications for such licenses shall be made in writing to the real estate commissioner, which application shall be accompanied by the recommendation of two real estate owners of the county in which such applicant resides certifying that the applicant is honest, truthful and of good moral character and recommending that a license be granted the applicant. If the applicant shall have resided less than one year in the county from which the application is made, then he shall be required to give satisfactory proof that his standing is above reproach and that his record for honesty and fair dealing is clear in his former place or places of business. The real estate commissioner may require such other sufficient and satisfactory proof as to him may seem desirable in reference to the character of any applicant for license, or of the officers of any corporation, or the members of any firm making such application before authorizing the issuance of a license. Every such application shall state the name of the person, firm or corporation, and the location of the place or places of business for which such license is desired.

Application for licenses as salesmen shall be made in writing to the real estate commissioner, signed by the applicant, setting forth the period of time during which he has been engaged in the business, stating the name of his last employer and the name of the firm then employing him or in whose employ he is to enter. The application shall be accompanied by the recommendation of his employer, if employed, certifying that the applicant is honest, truthful and of good moral character, and recommending that the license be granted to the applicant. The real estate commissioner may require such other sufficient and satisfactory proof as to him may seem desirable in reference to the character of any applicant for license.

SEC. 7. All applicants for a broker's license shall, in addition to such recommendation, file with the said real estate commissioner a satisfactory bond to the people of the State of California, duly executed by a sufficient surety or sureties, to be approved by said commissioner, in the amount of one thousand dollars conditioned for the faithful performance by such broker of any undertaking as a licensed real estate broker under this act, and on application of any person injured by the failure of a real estate broker to perform his duties or comply with the provisions of this act, the real estate commissioner may grant to such applicant, in his discretion, the right to prosecute such bond in the name of said real estate commissioner. It shall be the duty of the real estate commissioner to see that such bond remains and is kept good.

When any salesman or solicitor shall be discharged by his employer for dishonest dealing, a written statement of the facts in reference thereto shall be filed forthwith with the real estate commissioner, by the employer. Any person injured by dishonest dealing on the part of any salesman or solicitor, or who has personal knowledge of dishonest practice on the part of any salesman or solicitor, may communicate the facts in reference thereto to the real estate commissioner. If, after notifying such salesman or solicitor thereof and affording him an opportunity to be heard concerning the same, it appears to the real estate commissioner that said salesman or solicitor is guilty as charged, said real estate commissioner shall at once revoke his license and he shall not be entitled to receive any license as salesman or broker for a period of two years thereafter.

SEC. 8. The fees for license shall be as follows:

(1) For a broker's license, an annual fee of ten dollars.

(2) For a corporation, the annual fee shall be ten dollars and said license shall entitle the president of said corporation to engage in the real estate business within the meaning of this act. For officers other than the president of a corporation, who shall engage in the real estate business within the meaning of this act, the annual fee shall be two dollars.

(3) For a copartnership, the annual fee shall be ten dollars, and the license issued to said copartnership shall entitle one member of said copartnership to engage in the real estate business within the meaning of this act. For each other member of such copartnership the annual fee shall be two dollars.

(4) For salesmen and solicitors, the annual fee shall be two dollars.

Said license fee shall accompany the application and bond herein provided for, and no license shall be issued for a less period than one year.

It shall be unlawful for any licensed broker to pay a commission for performing any of the acts herein specified to any person who is not a licensed broker, except a licensed salesman or solicitor directly in the employ of a licensed broker, who shall then receive the same only through or from his employer, and except to a regular salaried employee who has been employed for not less than six months by such broker.

SEC. 9. The real estate commissioner shall have the power to temporarily suspend or permanently revoke licenses issued under the provisions of this act at any time where the holder thereof in performing or attempting to perform any of the acts mentioned in section two hereof is guilty of:

(a) Making any substantial misrepresentation, or

(b) Making any false promises of a character likely to influence, persuade or induce, or

(c) A continued and flagrant course of misrepresentation or making of false promises through agents, salesmen, or solicitors, or

(d) Acting for more than one party in the transaction without the knowledge or consent of all parties thereto, or

(e) Any other conduct, whether of the same or a different character than herein above specified, which in the opinion of said commissioner is contrary to good business morals.

Also, the real estate commissioner shall have the power to temporarily suspend or permanently revoke any license issued under the provisions of this act at any time where the holder thereof is guilty of using any means of fraudulent or misleading advertising.

Before suspending or revoking any license the said commissioner shall notify, in writing, the holder of such license of the charges against such holder of such license and afford an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel in reference thereto. The decision of the said commissioner in revoking any license under this act shall be subject to review, however, as follows:

An appeal may be taken from any decision of the real estate commissioner under this act by filing with the clerk of the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county in which the person affected by this decision resides or has his place of business under the terms of this act, a certified transcript of all papers in the office of the commissioner relating to such decision, and all evidence taken on the hearing. It shall be the duty of the said commissioner to make and certify to said transcript upon payment to him of a fee of ten cents for each folio and one dollar for the certification. The court shall, upon such appeal, be limited to a consideration of the question whether there has been abuse of discretion on the part of the real estate commissioner in making such decision.

SEC. 10. If, after the issuance and delivery of a license to any broker under the provisions of this act, any change shall be made in the place or places of business covered thereby, no such business shall be carried on in any other location until notice of change of location shall be given in writing to the commissioner, and each person, firm or corporation so licensed under the provisions of this act shall be required to have and maintain an office in the state for the transaction of business.

SEC. 11. Any person or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, if a person, be punished by a fine of not to exceed the sum of two thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail or state prison for a term not to exceed two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, or if a corporation, be punished by a fine of not to exceed five thousand dollars.

SEC. 12. The said commissioner shall receive, consider and investigate all verified complaints made in writing as to the action of any person, copartnership, corporation, or salesman or solicitor engaged in the real estate business, whether licensed or unlicensed. If such person, copartnership, corporation, or salesman or solicitor engaged in the real estate business shall not be licensed, then such commissioner shall cause such person, copartnership, corporation, or salesman or solicitor to be presented under the terms of this act; or, if any person shall prove to be a licensed broker or salesman or solicitor under the terms of this act, and be found guilty of improper dealing, the said commissioner shall have the power to discipline said broker or salesman or collector either by a temporary assignment of the license, or by the revocation thereof, as hereinafter provided. The said commissioner shall have the power to subpoena and bring before him any person within the state for the purpose of his investigation, or take the testimony of any such person by deposition in the same manner as prescribed by law in judicial proceedings in the courts of this state in civil cases.

No unlawful act or violation of any of the provisions of this act on the part of any salesman, collector or employee of any licensed broker in this state shall cause the revocation of the license, either in whole or in part, of the employer of said salesman, collector or employee, unless it shall appear to the satisfaction of said commissioner that said employer had guilty knowledge thereof, except as otherwise provided in section nine.

SEC. 13. The licensee herein provided for when issued shall be prominently displayed in the office of the real estate broker, and no license issued hereunder shall authorize the licensee to do business outside from the territory assigned to the licensee, and the change of business territory without notification to the commissioner and the issuance by him of a new license (which shall be without additional charge) shall automatically cancel the license then before issued.

SEC. 14. The governor may appoint the state real estate commissioner as hereinbefore provided or he may, from time to time, designate and remove the commissioner of corporations to act as said real estate commissioner, and in that case, all the powers and duties by this act provided for such real estate commissioner shall devolve and be imposed upon said commissioner of corporations, except that no additional salary shall be paid to such commissioner of corporations for performing any duties or exercising any powers herein mentioned, and otherwise, the other provisions of this act shall remain of full force and effect.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the constitution by amending sections one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, twelve, thirteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, nineteen and twenty-three of article four and by repealing sections fourteen and twenty-three of said article, all relating to the legislative department.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring. That the legislature of the State of California at its forty-second regular session commencing on the eighth day of January, one thousand nine hundred seventeen, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of the said legislature voting therefor, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California the following amendments to the constitution of this state:

First—Section one of article four of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1. The legislative power of this state shall be vested in a legislative body which shall be designated "the senate of the State of California" but the people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and amendments to the constitution, and to adopt or reject the same, at the polls independent of the senate, and also reserve the power, at their own option, to so adopt or reject any act, or section or part of any act, passed by the senate. "The enacting clause of every law shall be "The people of the State of California do enact as follows:". The first power reserved to the people shall be known as the initiative. Upon the presentation to the secretary of state of a petition certified as herein provided to have been signed the senate; and the persons to prepare and present such arguments shall, until otherwise provided by law, be selected by the presiding officer of the senate. If for any reason any initiative or referendum measure, proposed by petition as herein provided, be not submitted at the election specified in this section, such failure shall not prevent its submission at a succeeding general election, and no law or amendment to the constitution, proposed by the senate, shall be submitted at any election unless at the same election there shall be submitted all measures proposed by petition of the electors, if any be so proposed, as herein provided. Any initiative or referendum petition may be presented in sections, but each section shall contain a full and correct copy of the title and text of the proposed measure. Each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number if such exist. His election precinct shall also appear on the paper after his name. The number of signatures attached to each section shall be at the pleasure of the person soliciting signatures to the same. Any qualified elector of the state shall be competent to solicit said signatures within the county or city and county of which he is an elector. Each section of the petition shall bear the name of the county or city and county in which it is circulated, and only qualified electors of such county or city and county shall be competent to sign such section. Each section shall have attached thereto the affidavit of the person soliciting signatures to the same, stating his own qualifications and that all the signatures to the attached section were made in his presence and that to the best of his knowledge and belief each signature to the section is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be, and no other affidavit thereto shall be required. The affidavit of any person soliciting signatures hereunder shall be verified free of charge by any officer authorized to administer oaths. Such petition so verified shall be prima facie evidence that the signatures thereon are genuine and that the persons signing the same are qualified electors. Unless and until it be otherwise proven upon official investigation, it shall be presumed that the petition presented contains the signatures of the requisite number of qualified electors. Each section of the petition shall be filed with the clerk or registrar of voters of the county or city and county in which it was circulated, but all said sections circulated in any county or city and county shall be filed at the same time. Within twenty days after the filing of such petition in his office the said clerk, or registrar of voters, shall determine from the records of registration what number of qualified electors have signed the same, and if necessary the board of supervisors shall allow said clerk or registrar additional assistants for the purpose of examining such petition and provide for their compensation. The said clerk or registrar, upon the completion of such examination, shall forthwith attach to said petition, except the signatures thereto appended, his certificate, properly dated showing the result of said examination, and shall forthwith transmit said petition, together with his said certificate, to the secretary of state and also file a copy of said certificate in his office. Within forty days from the transmission of the said petition and certificate by the clerk or registrar to the secretary of state, a supplemental petition identical with the original as to the body of the petition but containing supplemental names, may be filed with the clerk or registrar of voters, as aforesaid. The clerk or registrar of voters shall within ten days after the filing of such supplemental petition make like examination thereof, as of the original petition, and upon the completion of such examination shall forthwith attach to said petition his certificate, properly dated, showing the result of said examination, and shall forthwith transmit a copy of said supplemental petition, except the signatures thereto appended, together with his certificate to the secretary of state. When the secretary of state shall have received from one or more county clerks or registrars of voters a petition certified as herein provided to have been signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, he shall forthwith transmit to the county clerk or registrar of voters of every county or city and county in the state his certificate showing such fact. A petition shall be deemed to be filed with the secretary of state upon the date of the receipt by him of a certificate or certificates showing said petition to be signed by the requisite number of electors of the state. Any county clerk or registrar of voters shall, upon receipt of such copy, file the same for record in his office. The duties herein imposed upon the clerk or registrar of voters shall be performed by such registrar of voters in all cases where the office of registrar of voters exists. The initiative and referendum powers of the people are hereby further reserved to the electors of each county, city and county, city and town of the state, to be exercised under such procedure as may be provided by law. Until otherwise provided by law, the legislative body of any such county, city and county, city or town may provide for the manner of exercising the initiative and referendum powers herein reserved to such counties, cities and counties, cities and towns, but shall not require more than fifteen per cent of the electors thereof to propose any initiative measure nor more than ten per cent of the electors thereof to order the referendum. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as affecting or limiting the present or future powers of cities or cities and counties having charters adopted under the provisions of section eight of article eleven of this constitution. In the submission to the electors of any measure under this section, all officers shall be guided by the general laws of this state, except as herein otherwise provided. This section is self-executing, but legislation may be enacted to facilitate its operation, but in no way limiting or restricting either the provisions of this section or the powers herein reserved. Whenever the words "committee," "assembly" or "senate" are used in this constitution, the same shall hereafter be understood to mean the senate hereby established, and any act requiring the assent of members of either or both houses of the legislature shall hereafter require only the assent of the members of the senate hereby established.

Each senatorial district shall elect one member. The senatorial districts shall be numbered from one to forty inclusive in senatorial number, commencing at the northern boundary of the state, and ending at the southern boundary thereof. In the apportionment of seats districts or counties or city and county, shall be divided unless a majority of the senate shall vote to form two or more districts, nor shall a part of the county, or of any city and county, be united with any other county, or city and county, or foreign territory. The census taken under the direction of the governor of the United States in the year one thousand nine hundred ten and every ten years thereafter, shall be the basis of fixing and adjusting the legislative districts, and the census taken at the first session after each census and set upon a basis of population and representation so as to preserve them as nearly equal in population as may be. But in making such adjustment no persons who are not eligible to become members of the United States under the naturalization laws shall be counted as persons, and a part of the population of any district. Until such adjustment as herein provided for shall be made the forty senatorial districts shall consist of the forty senatorial districts as now established by law.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Hon. Arthur H. Breed, President of the Senate, and to the Senate of the State of California:

The undersigned beg to respectfully petition your Honorable Body, and make the following statement:

The land owners in the drainage district, and certain commercial bodies interested in the State, and, therefore, in the flood control project for the Sacramento River two months ago delegated representatives to a meeting in Sacramento to consider legislation to be had during the present session to make effective the cooperation of the State and Federal governments in improving the navigation and controlling the floods of the Sacramento River.

At that meeting were delegates from the State Association of Reclamation Districts, from the San Joaquin and Sacramento River Improvement Association, from the Delta Association and from the Chambers of Commerce of San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and Stockton.

That meeting, as the first condition and foundation of its action, by vote endorsed the Reclamation Board as now constituted, and declared for its continuance in charge of its part of the flood control project.

It also ordered that an executive committee of five be appointed to draft a bill for the proper assessment of the district lands and the bonding thereof, to provide the land owners' share of the cost of the flood control project. The members of the committee so appointed and charged are all land owners in the drainage district and all liable for their share of the cost of this great project.

This committee, taking the Gobbart Bill, Assembly Bill 657, as easiest of amendment to conform to the purpose of the meeting, have presented the results of its work in the Assembly Bill 657, which is now before your Honorable Body.

The Senate committee has put into this bill an amendment which is contrary to the views and wishes of the meeting which appointed us, and, as we believe, contrary to the wish of the majority of men in the Sacramento assessment district who must pay the cost of the work to be done. The amendment proposes to abolish the present Reclamation Board and substitute therefor a board consisting of one member of the Water Commission, one member of the Highway Commission or State Engineer's office, to serve ex-officio, and a third member to be appointed by the Governor.

We beg respectfully to state that a board, of which the majority are ex-officio members, with other duties absorbing their time, will be able to give only perfunctory attention to the vast and important affairs of this drainage district, which is now the scene of the second greatest engineering project undertaken in this country.

We submit, also, that the land owners, who must bear the burden of the cost of this great work, supplementing that borne by the Federal and State governments, surely deserve that you consider their preference and wishes as to the instrumentality of the State which is to care for their interests. As in every organized form such owners have endorsed the present Reclamation Board, and they are the interested parties, we feel confident that your Honorable Body will give heed to their wishes and make no change.

We beg to state further that the amendment changing the present Reclamation Board has appeared without previous notice, as a surprise to the land owners, and at a time when they can make themselves felt only through us, appointed as their agents. This amendment was not mentioned at the public hearing on the bill by the Senate committee, and at no time have the land owners had the opportunity to be heard or express their opposition thereto.

A. E. ANDERSON,
T. T. C. GREGORY,
C. E. WILLIAMS,
JNO. P. IRISH,
JESSE POUNDSTONE.

Executive Committee, representing the State Association of Reclamation Districts, the San Joaquin and Sacramento River Improvement Association, the Delta Association and the Chambers of Commerce of San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and Stockton.

Also:

To the Honorable Senate and Assembly of California.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR—OUT OF ORDER

The following message from the Governor was taken up and read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

LESS than two months ago the Legislature by enactment created the State Council of Defense, an advisory body to the Governor in those emergency matters which bear upon one of the greatest state of war. Pursuant to the terms of the act, the State Council of Defense has been organized and is thoroughly representative of the entire life of our State. It has sponsored the great national efforts that confront us with vigor, enterprise, and unselfish patriotic fidelity.

The work which has been accomplished, even in this brief time, is of profound importance to the social, industrial and economic life of this State, and of the progress of this work the Legislature should be truly cognizant.

Two meetings of the entire body have already been held. Committees have been active, and those on their lists associated with themselves as subcommittees many individuals and typical interests. Today this council has woven together the vast and complicated life of our people, and by this agency we are striving to give protection, in home and to contribute our share in the great war in which our country is engaged.

It is quite impossible to present to you in detail the work of the Council of Defense at this time, but in conjunction with the provisions of the act creating the council, I deem it proper to submit a partial report of the high patriotic service being rendered this State.

Among the activities of the Council of Defense to which I would direct your attention is the work of the Committee on Scientific Research, which, under the leadership of the eminent and associations of the State is grappling with many urgent problems. These are not theoretical matters. They touch us all. Let me name only three of the problems presented by war conditions upon which these scientists are at work and which they meet soon in the near future.

First—Mines are closing down because of lack of cyanide. The citrus industry also must have cyanide for the preservation of our oranges and lemon groves. None of the chemical is manufactured and available and nothing suffer. The Council of National Defense has appealed to our State Council to help devise means for cyanide manufacture in California. It is highly probable that we will be successful.

Second—From the waste of our forests we can commercially obtain tar, turpentine, resin and charcoal. All of these are necessary for the industries and none are now available in quantities. Our chemical laboratories are attacking this problem with vigor.

Third—We face on this coast a shortage in iron and steel. We have great iron deposits, but we lack the means for the reduction methods common in this country. We can not be without iron and steel. Therefore, we must develop new methods depending upon different principles and by-product processes.

Success in these investigations means not only immediate relief to industrial life but in times of peace these new enterprises will bring prosperity to our State.

The Committee on Oil Supply has completed a survey of the total production of all companies. This State must produce more oil and develop new processes to increase the production of gasoline and kerosene oils. This survey is of most valuable and represents information from home source given over to any agency of the government.

In transportation, the council has coordinated all of the railroad facilities of California so that they may be used in greatest effect in case of emergency. A survey of all forms of motor vehicles is under way. The Highway Commission has in hand the problem of military roads and their maintenance.

The Committee on Manufactures, in conjunction with various chambers of commerce, has made an excellent survey of the manufacturing resources of the

The source is now being cited by the Attorney in the national proceedings. "We want that same old story of sudden massive increases that were halted" (1988).

The problem of how to best estimate the basic frequency that characterizes the fast-beat component in the output of the Chironomus tentans when exposed to the stimulus of the temperature. There are three basic assumptions of the classical Fourier analysis procedure, namely: (a) stationarity, (b) periodicity, and (c) linearity. The first two assumptions are violated by the nonstationarity of the process, because there is a shift in the period between runs. When the stimulus is not strictly periodic, it is not clear what can be said about the fast-beat component.

We are using logarithmic time. Using a \log function instead of \log_2 makes the following analysis a good deal easier. In the last paragraph, after translating to base 2, all the same analysis would hold. The point is, any system of notation had brought an arbitrary numerical constant.

1. The Commission has been asked to consider the possibility of a new type of international organization, which would be a kind of "international parliament" or "international assembly" which would be a kind of "international parliament" or "international assembly" which would be a kind of "international parliament" or "international assembly".

The Commission by Final Report is instructing current and future Congresses: "Our people must be told that the acceptance of this case is more an admission of loss and its suffering than the hope of gain for all the nation."

Only a few of the geographic coordinates in the Faculty of Geography have been mentioned in this book. A few more would have been mentioned were it not for US-Soviet war operations.

The Senate has adopted the measure, allowing Nevada and some authority to be changed and protect our families. It is a bill of laws and it is not a bill of laws. Some members of the date of great importance. With the option and old of our State Council in California will be the first to see something and the state of Nevada.

The following request for permission to introduce a bill was presented:
By Senator Luce:

RECEIVED: 11/11/2016, ACCEPTED: 1/11/2017, April 24, 2017

Mr. PRESIDENT. In agreement with the provisions of article 3, Article 11 of the Constitution, I request that the President of the Senate be granted the introduction of the amendments to the bill of which he is the author.

An act of debauch in a very French style, and several good persons had turned up the conditions under which the women of a public dancing place, or a theatre, were to supply their common master. In such an act cannot there be something so unbecomingly as there is in a public act, and, coming much nearer to the truth, the French Nation is a pretty far from the notion of men, and dancing there are the few changes to make.

Request referred to Committee on Rules.

EXPLANATION OF CODE

The following explanation of vote was presented by Senator Chamberlain and ordered printed in the Journal:

Annotating the passbook at my own request, No. 1290, being my undersaved, I desire to make the following statement:

I visited 22 sites in the last 10 days and found that in each case the most serious measure of expense is related to the public works program of the State of California. The bill provides for a sum of $200 million to be made available by the Government and subject to the existing law, which provides $5,000,000,000 to defray the expenses. The bill was passed on June 11, 1964, and it was passed with hardly any expenditure of time. I am sure that the bill will be made for its constructive work.

One of the reasons given to justify the state defense guard and the system of the appointment, was that if all the state soldiers were called into the Federal service, California would be left without a defense force. This also does not justify its establishment, in my estimation. Should there be need of extra precaution and armed guard forces, California, I am sure, would be amply protected by the Federal government. It is certain, to my mind, that a force of 1,000 men would be absurdly inadequate and therefore practically useless. The state defense guard would serve no purpose that the regularly organized military and police forces of the State would not serve. No great emergency having been shown to exist to warrant the expenditure of one million dollars for such an organization, I voted against the bill.

HARRY A. CHAMBERLIN,
Thirty-first District.

Senate Bill No. 1201—An act defining a private irrigation plant and mutual water company and providing the conditions under which the owner of a private irrigation plant or a mutual water company may deliver water to others or others than its stockholders or members without becoming a public utility, and limiting such authority to the time the United States is a party to war or to a state of war, and declaring this act to be an emergency measure.

ASSOCIATED PRESS.

1. The first of these is the fact that the majority of the population of the United States is now living in urban areas. This is a result of the process of urbanization, which has been going on since the beginning of the 20th century. The process of urbanization is the movement of people from rural areas to urban areas. This is done for a variety of reasons, including the search for better living conditions, the desire for education, and the need for employment. The process of urbanization has led to the growth of large cities and the decline of small towns. This has had a significant impact on the way we live and work. It has led to the development of new technologies and industries, and it has changed the way we think and behave. The process of urbanization is still going on, and it is likely to continue for many years to come. It is important to understand the process of urbanization and its impact on society, so that we can make the most of the opportunities it offers and avoid the problems it creates.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

Since the 1970s, a number of studies have been conducted to assess the impact of the 1970s on the economy. The most recent study, by the Congressional Budget Office (CBO), found that the 1970s had a negative impact on the economy. The CBO found that the 1970s led to a decline in the economy's growth rate, a decline in the economy's productivity, and a decline in the economy's inflation rate. The CBO also found that the 1970s led to a decline in the economy's unemployment rate, a decline in the economy's income inequality, and a decline in the economy's social welfare. The CBO's findings suggest that the 1970s had a negative impact on the economy, and that the economy has not yet recovered from the 1970s.

As a result of the 1990s, the role of the state in the economy has been reduced, and the private sector has become the main driver of economic growth. This has led to a more competitive and efficient economy, but it has also led to a more unequal distribution of income and wealth. The state has been able to maintain a high level of social welfare, but it has been unable to reduce the gap between the rich and the poor. 1. The first group of people who are interested in the study of the history of the world are the historians. They are people who study the past and try to understand what happened and why it happened. They use a variety of sources, including books, documents, and artifacts, to reconstruct the past. They also try to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Historians are interested in the past for a variety of reasons. Some are interested in the past because they want to know what happened and why it happened. Others are interested in the past because they want to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Still others are interested in the past because they want to learn from the mistakes of the past and avoid them in the future.

Many of the authors of letters to Congress in the 1970s were not only concerned about the environment but also about the economy. They were worried about the impact of environmental regulations on the economy and the need for a balanced approach to environmental protection. This led to the development of the "New Environmentalism" which emphasized the need for a balanced approach to environmental protection.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

The following explanation was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

When the proposed Smith Charter Amendment was before the people, as is well known, I was one of the few who voted against its adoption, and after its adoption by the voters of Oakland I immediately took steps to have a charter amendment proposed allowing a referendum on waterfront leases. I took this proposed amendment from commission to commission without making any progress, but finally with the help of the Committee of Fifteen an amendment of this kind was submitted and approved by the people on April 17th last.

On my own initiative I introduced in the Senate a bill limiting the length of leases on the western waterfront to fifty years, and that bill was passed, and has been signed by the Governor.

The resolution ratifying the ninety-nine year charter amendment was adopted by the Assembly on March 1st, and no one appeared from Oakland to oppose its ratification by the Assembly. It then came to the Senate, and was sent to the Municipal of same; to repeal all acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith," approved May 19, 1915.

The authors also found that the impact of the crisis was more severe for companies with higher debt levels and lower profitability.

1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to define the problem. This involves identifying the symptoms of the problem and determining the scope of the problem. Once the problem has been defined, the next step is to identify the causes of the problem. This involves identifying the factors that are contributing to the problem and determining the underlying causes. Once the causes have been identified, the next step is to develop a plan of action. This involves identifying the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem and determining the resources that will be needed to implement the plan. Finally, the last step in the process is to implement the plan and monitor the results. This involves putting the plan into action and tracking the progress of the solution. Once the problem has been solved, the final step is to evaluate the results and determine if the solution was effective. This involves comparing the results of the solution to the original problem and determining if the solution was successful. If the solution was successful, the final step is to document the results and share the information with others. If the solution was not successful, the final step is to identify the reasons for the failure and determine if a different solution is needed.

Other factors like the size of the company and the type of financing of investment projects (debt or equity) may also be important. In order to test this hypothesis, we will use the data of the 1990-1994 period, which allows us to distinguish between companies that have been financed by bank loans and companies that have been financed by equity.

1. The first of these is the fact that the majority of the population of the United States is now living in urban areas. This is a result of the process of urbanization, which has been going on since the beginning of the 20th century. The population of the United States has increased from about 100 million in 1900 to over 200 million in 1950. At the same time, the population of rural areas has decreased from about 100 million in 1900 to about 50 million in 1950. This has led to a concentration of the population in urban areas, which has had a profound effect on the social and economic life of the country.

This is a result of the process of urbanization, which has been going on since the beginning of the nineteenth century. The process of urbanization is the movement of people from rural areas to urban areas. This movement is caused by a number of factors, including the search for better living conditions, the desire for education, and the need for employment. The process of urbanization has led to the growth of large cities and the decline of small towns. This has had a profound effect on the social and economic life of the United States.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of 10 sedentary, middle-aged men. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 45 minutes. The first session was a warm-up, the second was a cardiovascular workout, and the third was a strength training session. The results showed that the men who completed the program had significantly higher levels of physical fitness than those who did not. The study also found that the men who completed the program had a lower body mass index (BMI) than those who did not. The authors conclude that a 12-week training program can improve the physical fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men.

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the boat was the cold, damp air. It was a relief from the heat of the sun on the water. I looked around at the dark, jagged mountains that rose steeply from the water's edge. The sky was overcast, and the water was a dull, greyish-blue. I felt a sense of isolation and solitude. The only sound was the gentle lapping of the water against the boat's hull. I took a deep breath and stepped onto the shore. The ground was wet and slippery, and I had to be careful not to fall. I walked towards the mountains, feeling a sense of adventure and excitement. The mountains were so close, it was as if I could reach out and touch them. I looked up at the peaks, which were shrouded in mist. The air was thick with the scent of pine and the sound of falling water. I felt a sense of awe and wonder. The mountains were so beautiful, it was hard to believe they were real. I walked for hours, exploring every nook and cranny of the forest. I saw many beautiful flowers and plants that I had never seen before. I also saw many animals, including bears, deer, and birds. I felt a sense of peace and tranquility. The mountains were so peaceful, it was as if I had found a hidden world. I stayed in the mountains for several days, enjoying every moment. I felt a sense of accomplishment and pride. I had made it to the top of the mountain, and I had seen some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. I was so happy, it was hard to believe. I had found my place in the world, and I was so grateful. I had found a home in the mountains, and I was so lucky. I was so happy, it was hard to believe. I had found my place in the world, and I was so grateful. I had found a home in the mountains, and I was so lucky.
